

WAR SECRETARY PATTERSON RESIGNS

BRITISH WAGE
BATTLE WITH JEWISH SHIPDESTROYERS BRING
4550 IMMIGRANTS
INTO HAIFA

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON
Haifa, Palestine, July 18 (AP)—Five British destroyers brought 4,550 Jewish immigrants into Haifa aboard their battered old excursion steamer today after a violent hours-long sea battle in which the Jews said two boarding parties were defeated.

A British officer said two Jews were killed in the battle and that Walter Bernstein, 24, of Los Angeles, Calif., a former U. S. merchant seaman who served as first mate of the immigrant ship, died later of head injuries received when one boarding party invaded the deckhouse. The other two victims were passengers.

Seventeen Jews, all with club and gunshot wounds, were seriously injured and taken to a Haifa hospital.

A British announcement said three members of the 50-man boarding party were injured in the battle—in which smoke bombs, steam jets, fuel oil and even fireworks were used, and tear gas and small arms employed by both sides.

At the height of the fight heavy life rafts were cut loose by the refugee ship and sent plunging onto destroyer decks. Her "evasive" maneuvering caused repeated collisions with the destroyers, some of which were damaged.

As soon as the ship, a former Chesapeake Bay excursion vessel, docked British troops began the transport of the 4,550 Jewish immigrants to troop transports for deportation to Cyprus. Dirty and disheveled, the refugees left their ship—the former President Warfield, renamed "European Exodus of 1947"—and walked across 30 feet of their "promised land" to the British deportation vessels.

The British officer who reported the two deaths was a member of the boarding party. Three bodies were found aboard, he said, explaining that one was a woman who died in childbirth during the journey. He said the other two were killed when Marines resorted to gun fire to counter tear gas and revolvers used by the refugees. A broadcast purportedly emanating from the ship at the time of the battle said one Jew was killed and 25 wounded seriously including five who were dying.

Two bodies were seen on the jetty, covered by bloodstained blankets.

One American Christian was found aboard the President Warfield. He identified himself as John Stanley Grauel, 30, of Worcester, Mass., and said he was an Episcopal minister who joined the Jewish immigration project on behalf of the American Christian-Palestine committee.

(Authoritative British sources in London said the refugee ship took aboard between 4,000 and 5,000 Jews July 10 at Sete, France, near Marseille, and sailed with the declaration that she was heading for Colombia. She had sailed from Baltimore May 30 for La Spezia, Italy, and from La Spezia for Sete June 12, the informants added.)

(Under the name President Warfield, the ship once carried thousands of vacationists between Baltimore and Norfolk as queen of the old Bay Line fleet. She participated in the Normandy invasion in 1944 after crossing the Atlantic under her own power, and later was used on the Seine between Le Havre and Rouen as a troopship.)

Girls Robbed
Of $4,300 In Detroit Bank

Detroit, July 18 (AP)—A pair of gunmen robbed two 18-year-old girl employees of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of $4,300 today in the lobby of an East side bank, police reported.

The girls, Florence Lormer and Helen Dawson, told officers the robbers stopped them in the bank lobby and ordered them to give up the money they were taking in for deposit.

One of the bandits was carrying a brief case and revolver, and both men were well-dressed, the girls said. They reported the robbers fled on foot after taking the money.

There were no witnesses. Police said the bandits apparently were familiar with the insurance office routine of taking money to the bank.

MARTIN IN LINE
FOR PRESIDENCYTruman Signs Bill To Make Speaker No. 1
Replacement

Washington, July 18 (AP)—President Truman today signed a bill changing the 60-year-old law of succession for the presidency and in effect designating House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R-Mass.) as the No. 1 replacement for the White House.

Under the new law, Martin would become president in the event Mr. Truman does not finish his term.

In signing the measure, Mr. Truman achieved a goal he has sought almost since he succeeded to the presidency upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt. April 12, 1945. He had declared that "so far as possible, the office of the president should be filled by an elective officer."

Under the old law of succession, Secretary of State Marshall would have taken over the White House in case Mr. Truman did not finish his term. Marshall, like all cabinet officers, is a presidential appointee.

"The new law makes the Speaker of the House the government's No. 2 man when as now, there is no vice president."

When the vice presidency is filled, the speaker drops down to No. 3, followed by the president pro tempore of the Senate (now Senator Vandenberg of Michigan) and cabinet officers starting with the Secretary of State.

Huge St. Lawrence
Seaway Plan Gets Action In January

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Legislation to authorize construction of the controversial half-billion dollar St. Lawrence seaway and power project went to the Senate today for action next January.

The legislation, which Congress has been considering in one form or another since 1933, was approved, 9-4, by the 13-member Senate foreign relations committee.

Actual filing of the committee's approval with the Senate will be withheld until the first legislative week of the next congressional session, beginning in January. Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told reporters.

The measure was supported by these committee members: Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Capper (R-Kans.), Wiley (R-Wis.), Smith, R-N.J., Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Wagner (D-N.Y.), Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah), Barkley (D-Ky.) and Hatch (D-N.M.). Opposed were Senators White (R-Me.), Lodge (R-Mass.) Connally (D-Tex.) and George (D-Ga.).

Guerillas Cut Up
Into Small Bands
By Greek Soldiers

Athens, Greece, July 18 (AP)—Communist-led guerrillas have been cut up into small bands, scattered over a wide area and are suffering severe losses at the hands of the national air force while racing to escape pursuing ground forces following the abortive thrust at Ioannina in Epirus, a Greek communiqué said today.

Part of the guerrilla force, originally estimated at 2,000 when it began its drive from the Albanian border region last Sunday, was said to be trying to escape to the northeast. Other bands fled to the south.

Press dispatches said Greek Spitfires caught a band of 800 fleeing through a ravine in the southern foothills of Mount Smolikas and killed at least 245 while 300 more were captured by the ground troops.

SENATE FAILS TO OVERRIDE
TAX CUT VETOISSUE IS TOSSED
INTO CAMPAIGN
FOR 1948

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Washington, July 18 (AP)—Warned that Russia's behavior may lead to a "blow-up" in Europe, the Senate today upheld President Truman's second veto and killed the Republican-backed bill to cut taxes by $4,000,000,000 for 49,000,000 taxpayers.

A powerful Republican-Democratic Senate coalition rolled up a 57 to 36 vote to override the veto, but this fell five votes short of the two-thirds majority required by the constitution to upset a presidential objection to legislation.

Earlier, a similar House coalition amassed a thumping 299 to 108-28 margin over two-thirds to overturn the veto in that body. But this saved the tax bill from the scrap heap only long enough for the Senate to vote.

"Unsound and Unsafe"
But as Mr. Truman won his veto battle, Republicans promptly tossed the tax issue into the 1948 presidential campaign. Senate Democratic leader, Barkley, of Kentucky, responded: "If that be so, so be it."

The President, in his veto message, pleaded that congress kill the bill because recent international developments have exposed this country to greater international "risk." He declared:

"I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe. I also regard it as unfair."

Barkley, just before the Senate voted, declared if the situation "blows up" in Europe, the American people will be reluctant to buy bonds to support this country in another emergency if the government's credit is destroyed.

The Democratic leader declared Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia had "sabotaged" the Paris conference on European rehabilitation, and pleaded that the President's veto be supported in the interest of "our own domestic economy and our obligation to mankind."

People Decide
Voting to override the veto today were 47 Republicans and 10 Democrats. For sustaining were 33 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

The 1948 presidential campaign entered the House debate when Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the ways and means committee, tax cut author, shouted: "this probably is the end of hopes for tax relief in 1948. We will let the great tribunal, the American people, decide whether they want tax reduction."

The President, in a terse veto message, branded the bill "unsound, unsafe and unfair."

"This is still the wrong kind of tax reduction and this is still the wrong time to provide for tax reduction," he said.

Thus he echoed the language he used in his successful veto of the first tax cut bill June 16. The measure at issue today was identical with the earlier one, except

SHIP DISASTER
FATAL TO 570Steamer Capsizes Near Mouth Of Stormy
Bombay Harbor

By DONALD HUTH
Bombay, India, July 18 (AP)—An estimated 570 persons were missing and believed dead today in the sinking of the 400-ton coastal vessel Ramdas which capsized in the storm-swept mouth of Bombay harbor Thursday.

Officials of the Indian Cooperative Navigation and Trading Company, Ltd., which owned the ill-fated vessel, said there were about 150 survivors out of 721 passengers and crewmen reported aboard at the time of the disaster—one of the worst in Indian shipping history.

They said they still had been unable to confirm a report that 20 additional survivors had made their way to Mandva, a small village near the scene of the sinking. Another unconfirmed report said the body of a white woman was washed ashore at Mandva. Three Europeans—a man, woman and child—were reported among the passengers.

There were indications that the exact number of dead may never be known.

The disaster occurred as the 11-year-old steamer neared the end of her regular 45-minute run across the harbor from Bombay to Rewas.

Congress Speeds Up
To Adjourn July 26

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Day and night sessions of the Senate next week were agreed upon by Republican leaders today as they cling to plans for adjournment of Congress on July 26—a week from Saturday.

Biggest change in previous Senate plans, made at a strategy session of the Senate Republican policy committee, was addition of a number of veterans bills to the "must list" of legislation.

Among these is the House-approved plan to permit immediate payment of some $1,800,000,000 of terminal pay bonds now held by veterans of World War II.

"I see no reason why we should not finish next week," Senator

Taft (R-Ohio), told reporters who waited nearly two hours outside the policy committee closed-door session. Taft heads the committee.

Taft said Senate leaders will meet with House Republican heads on Monday and try to shape schedules for what they hope will be the final busy week of this session.

Taft listed this program for the Senate:

First, the test upon overriding the presidential veto on the income tax reduction bill.

Second, continued pressure on the Senate to approve a probe of actions by the justice department in its investigation of the Kansas City Democratic primary election last year.

Third, approval on a series of so-called "non-controversial" measures previously listed.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), the Republican whip, won support of the policy group today for a one-year extension of the Senate's small business subcommittee.

Taft said President Truman's new request for $250,000,000 additional for flood control was discussed but the actual decision left to the appropriations committee.

Among the veterans bills added to the Senate list are:

One granting Spanish-American War veterans a 20 per cent boost in present monthly pensions. A bill raising monthly allowances for veterans now attending schools under the GI bill of rights. Single veterans would get $75 monthly instead of the present $60; married veterans $105 instead of $90, and married veterans with children $120 instead of $90.

A measure authorizing purchase of automobiles for veterans who are blind or permanently disabled.

Others were Walter Funk, former economic minister for Germany; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, all sentenced to life terms by the Nuremberg International Military tribunal; Baldur von Schirach, ex-youth leader, and Albert Speer, former arms production chief, who received 20 years each; Baron Constantin von Neurath, former "protector of Bohemia and Moravia, who is to serve 15 years, and former Admiral Karl Doenitz, who bears a 10-year sentence.

Their only privileges will be that of working nine hours a day except Sundays, and holidays if they are judged physically fit by physicians. Work, religious services and walks will be communal. The rest of the time they will sit in their solitary cells dressed in drab gray uniforms.

Teen-Agers Swept Through Mile-Long
Sewer But Survive

Pittsburgh, July 18 (AP)—Four teen-age boys, after a terrifying, mile-long trip through a storm-swollen sewer, said today they'd "keep on praying" because their lives were spared.

"We had no idea where the sewer would end but we sure prayed for daylight," declared William Dorrity, 14.

FUNDS VOTED BY HOUSE TO
FEED HUNGRYEUROPE'S RECOVERY
LINKED WITH CURB ON COMMUNISM

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Washington, July 18 (AP)—The House swiftly passed tonight an omnibus appropriations measure, bundling up $1,353,024,900 in funds to carry out the United States' tri-pronged program to speed Europe's recovery, help the hungry and homeless and stem the spread of communism.

The action came on voice vote just an hour after its consideration began—perhaps a peacetime record for disposing of a measure of its magnitude and international implications. It goes now to the Senate.

The final action came after the House shouted down a motion by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to attach an amendment denying any aid to countries which fail to "cooperate" in the Marshall plan for Europe's recovery.

More Details Wanted
Rep. Keefe (R-Wis.) protested that the amendment would "commit" Congress in support of the Marshall plan at a time when it knows nothing of its details, and before the Paris conference on its operation has been completed.

Chairman Taber (R-N.Y.) of the House appropriations committee asked:

"What is the Marshall plan and is there a Marshall plan?"

(Secretary of State Marshall has proposed that Europe draw up a recovery program of its own, with the United States standing by to give any aid it deems practicable. A conference is being held at Paris now on this "Marshall plan.")

Taber declared that countries under Russian domination will be denied American relief "unless they turn over a new leaf."

Against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—he spoke particularly of Poland, but said that other countries, too, in the Soviet bloc "must show that they are willing to cooperate with nations which believe in freedom."

Taber said the committee specifically had eliminated $18,000,000 from the previously authorized $350,000,000 for foreign relief to cut out money originally intended for countries economically and ideologically associated with Russia.

This apparently would apply to Hungary, since its recent change in government, as well as to Poland. Both had been named in the relief bill as potential recipients of the American aid.

The biggest barrier to passage of the measure was removed early in the evening when Rep. Case (R-SD) dropped plans to attempt to attach a rider calling for a flood control program. He said he had been assured hearings on the control plans would be held next week.

In sending the omnibus aid bill to the House floor, however, the committee cautioned the world against counting upon "limitless" relief from the United States.

The measure contained $1,353,024,900 for the program, technically representing a 12.6 per cent committee reduction in the $1,548,261,400 outlay sought by the administration.

A big chunk of this slash came

Pontiac Workmen
Burned To Death
As Oil Explodes

Pontiac, Mich., July 18 (AP)—Two workmen were burned to death today when trapped in a small washroom suspended over an open oil tank which exploded at the Pontiac Motors division of General Motors corporation.

Two others were injured, one seriously. Authorities identified the dead as Jay K. Tindall and Thomas C. Jarrett, both of Pontiac. George E. Minda, 27, of Highland Park, was injured seriously and an unidentified worker escaped with minor hurts.

Officials said Minda was aiding a private contractor in removal of an overhead crane in the heat treatment department of the plant when his acetylene torch ignited a 40-gallon oil tank.

The explosion and flames trapped Tindall and Jarrett in a small washroom suspended about 20 feet over the area and they were burned to death. The unidentified man jumped to safety from the elevated washroom.

Sprinklers extinguished the blaze but damage to the area forced the company to send 200 workers home.

MEAT BOYCOTT
SOUGHT BY CIOChicago Workers Urged
To Help Force Down
Rising Prices

Chicago, July 18 (AP)—The Chicago Industrial Union Council, central CIO body representing more than 200,000 Chicago workers, today urged its membership to invoke a seven-day meat buying boycott, starting Sunday, in an attempt to force prices downward.

The council, embracing some 200 CIO locals, voted unanimously in favor of the boycott last night and letters were mailed to members of the organization today urging them not to buy meat between July 20 and July 26, inclusive.

"We feel there is no reason for the current high meat prices," Michael Mann, secretary of the council, said. "The pickers are cashing in on the fact that people have to eat."

In reply to Mann's statement, the American Meat Institute, asserted in a statement that "Mr. Mann's reasoning regarding the cause of present prices of meat is entirely distorted."

"Further, meat supplies now are at a seasonal low; this in the face of unprecedented demand. As for livestock costs, the man is completely in error. This week the average price of good steers has been ranging about 4½ cents a pound more, liveweight, than six months ago. Live hog prices have been averaging about $1 more per hundredweight than six months ago," the statement said.

White House Gets Measure To Repeal
Wartime Statutes

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The Senate today completed congressional action on a measure to repeal 57 wartime statutes and set termination dates for more than 100 others.

The Senate sent the measure to the White House after concurring in 36 House amendments, most of them minor.

Among immediate repealers added by the House was a provision of the servicemen's readjustment act of 1944 allowing veterans up to $20 a week for 52 weeks until five years after the "cessation of hostilities." The effect of the House repealer is to start the running of the five-year period now rather than wait for a formal termination of the war.

Airplane Crashes
At Grand Hotel On Mackinac Island

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 17 (AP)—Before the eyes of a throng of hotel guests a Detroit pilot crash-landed his plane on the grounds in front of the Grand hotel here today.

The pilot, Theodore J. Tepsch, 24, of Detroit and a passenger, James L. Inersel of Centerline, escaped with only minor injuries although the plane was demolished.

Police said Tepsch was flying a small plane owned by the Michigan Veterans Flying Service out of the Detroit city airport when the craft ran out of gasoline.

Lansing, July 18 (AP)—A dress parade, memorial services and a reception for the commanding general will end the first week of the Michigan State Guard encampment at Camp Grayling.

Division headquarters at Lansing said the dress parade Saturday afternoon will be followed by the evening reception for Commanding General Brig. Gen. Ralph A. Loveland. Lieut. Col. Gustave Schellhaas, division chaplain, will conduct the memorial services for the National Guard dead of both World wars Sunday morning.

TOP CABINET
7-YEAR HITCHKENNETH C. ROYALL
OF N. CAROLINA
IS SUCCESSOR

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Grizzled "Judge" Robert P. Patterson quit his job of secretary of war today, ending a seven-year government service which President Truman called "magnificent."

In a letter to the President, Patterson asked that the resignation become effective not later than on next Thursday. Mr. Truman, accepting, immediately nominated Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall of North Carolina to succeed the New Yorker.

Patterson, a leading advocate of armed forces unification in the long argument over that proposal, told Mr. Truman that he had waited to resign until it appeared the unification bill would become law.

With that, he added, "The time has come to lay down the duties I have borne for seven years as assistant secretary, undersecretary and secretary of war."

Regret In Washington
Patterson's is the second resignation from top levels of the War Department within the week. On Monday, Assistant Secretary Howard C. Petersen, in charge of the Army's occupation and civil affairs problems overseas, sent his resignation to the White House, effective July 31.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal issued a statement on Patterson's departure, saying:

"Everyone in government, whether in the executive or legislative branches, will share the President's expression of profound regret at the resignation of Robert C. Patterson as secretary of war. He has been a great public servant."

Forrestal's name has been mentioned in speculation for the post of secretary of national defense which would be created under unification. This official would have cabinet status and there would be three secretaries, without cabinet rank, for the departments of war, navy and air.

Picked By Roosevelt
Patterson, 56 year old native of Glen Falls, N. Y., had headed the war department since the resignation of Henry L. Stimson in September, 1945. He came to the department on July 31, 1940, when President Roosevelt appointed him assistant secretary of war.

With the creation of the office of under secretary in December of that year Patterson was assigned that job, from which he directed the army's vast supply procurement for the waging of World War II.

By profession a lawyer, Patterson served on the benches of the federal district and circuit courts before coming to Washington.

Patterson is a veteran of World War I, with service in France including the Oise-Aisne and Meuse-Argonne offensives. He was wounded in action.

Royall, 53 years old and a native of Goldsboro, N. C., is like Patterson a veteran of the first World War and served again during the latest conflict. A brigadier general at the time, Royall was appointed undersecretary of war in November, 1945 to succeed Patterson when the latter moved up to the secretaryship.

Aspirin Revealed As Medical Remedy In Rheumatic Fever

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

New York (P)—Test tube evidence that aspirin is good for rheumatic fever, the disease that leaves large numbers of children with weak hearts, was presented to the fifth international pediatric congress which ended its meeting Thursday.

Aspirin is given regularly to relieve pain in rheumatic fever, but it was not considered a medical remedy.

Evidence now indicates aspirin is actually a protection against the permanent damage done by rheumatic fever. The aspirin appears to hold down the formation of scars in certain body tissues. These scars cause the bad after-effects.

The scars appear in a sandwich tissue that separates the fibers that hold the body's soft tissues together. The sandwich stuff swells up big and the aspirin seems to hold down this swelling. Streptococcus germs cause rheumatic fever and sulfa drugs are the remedy for them.

The aspirin studies were shown in an exhibit by Drs. Ralph H. Boots, Charles Ragan, Karl Meyer, and James A. Coss, Jr., of Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Normally battery distributors sell only 55 per cent of their total in the first three-quarters of the year, with the last three months booming at the remaining 45 per cent.

Electric Utilities Use On Increase

The Escanaba electric utilities, at the end of the fiscal year June 30th, showed a substantial increase in the amount of electrical energy purchased and generated over last year's figures. The increase in power purchased is over 13 per cent as compared a year ago.

Due to mechanical failures of generating equipment at the sewage disposal plant very little power was generated there during the previous year. In the past year 220,000 kilowatt hours was generated. Full capacity of the treatment plant is 225,000 kilowatt hours.

Residential customers increased their usage of electrical energy a half million kilowatt hours in the past year. In 1946 the average customer used 946 kilowatt hours per year; in 1947, 1,044 per year. The above year dates refer to fiscal years ending then.

Commercial sales expanded with a five per cent increase or 475,000 kilowatt hours. Power sales increased nearly 12 per cent with anticipation of tremendous increase in the coming year.

During the past fiscal year the City of Escanaba purchased two and one half million kilowatt hours, an increase of two and one half per cent.

Records indicate that at present 5,108 meters are in service as compared to 4,832 a year ago. Unaccounted energy was less than nine per cent as compared with 12 per cent the previous year.

Total number of kilowatt hours sold during the year were 11,674,598 as compared with 10,206,930 in the fiscal year of 45-46. Revenue from the utility was $340,036. In the previous year $302,190.03 was collected.

STATE TO HOLD PUREBRED SALE

47 Head Of Cattle Will Be Auctioned At Fair Grounds Monday

The first Upper Peninsula sale of surplus purebred cattle from state institutions will be held at the fair grounds in Escanaba starting at 1 p. m. Monday, when 42 heifers and five bulls will be offered for sale.

Although the State Institutions sale of surplus cattle has been held in Lower Michigan for the past five years, this will be the first such sale in the Upper Peninsula. The cattle will come from high ranking herds at state institutions in Newberry, Marquette, Howell, Ionia, Jackson, Mt. Pleasant and Traverse City. Twenty of the 47 head will come from the two U. P. institutions.

Michigan institutions have been breeding registered Holsteins for 60 years and it becomes necessary from time to time to dispose of surplus animals that are not needed for herd replacements.

Good Records Many outstanding records of production have been made in these herds during the past years, included among these is the World Record Senior two year old, Marquette Inka DeKol, 2127687, in the Marquette herd with 915.8 pounds of fat.

Every cow in the state herds is on official test for production and every cow and bull eligible is officially classified for type. There are at present a total of 1,350 cows in production in all state herds and the total number of animals of all ages is slightly in excess of 2,700 head.

The sale is being sponsored by the Michigan department of agriculture, and managed by A. B. Clark, coordinator of the bureau of institutional farms, C. B. Smith of Williamston, Michigan, will be the auctioneer.

SHRINERS WILL HOLD REUNION

Imperial Potentate To Be At Marquette On July 26

Ahmed Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will be host July 26 to Karl Rex Hammers, Pittsburg, Penna., imperial potentate of the Shrine for North America, and Shriners from all parts of the Upper Peninsula who will be here for its summer reunion and ceremony.

It will be the first time that the imperial potentate, top ranking officer in Shrinedom, has visited Ahmed Temple.

Hammers was installed as the Shrine's first ranking leader at Atlantic City last May 29 and will preside at the 1948 convention next June, which has again been awarded to the resort center.

Long an active participant in ritualistic and executive work, Hammers joined the Indiana, Penna., lodge No. 313, Free and Accepted Masons, shortly after he became of age. At Pittsburgh, where he is an advertising executive of the H. J. Heinz company, he joined the Scottish Rite.

He is a Past Thrice Potent Master of Gougas Lodge of Perfection and served a three-year term as a member of the board of trustees, A. S. R. The supreme council, northern Masonic jurisdiction, recognized his services when he was crowned a thirty-third degree Inspector General honorar, at Grand Rapids in 1934.

Hammers is a member of Pittsburg chapter Royal Order of Scotland; past president and on the advisory board of Western Pennsylvania Masonic Veterans association, and holds membership in Tall Cedar of Lebanon Forest, No. 77. He is a member of the east of Court No. 2, Royal Order of Jesters.

Seney

Takala-Riordan Seney, Mich.—From Detroit comes word of the exchange of marriage vows between Mella Takala, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Nininen and Frank Riordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riordan of Seney at a double-ring, candlelight ceremony held Saturday, July 12, 7:30 p. m. at the Pilgrim Ev. Lutheran church of Detroit.

The ceremony, under the direction of the Rev. Edwin Beyer, was performed in the glow of 38 candles placed upon the altar, casting highlights upon the arrangements of white gladioli which surrounded the altar.

Bay Foundry Is Newest Delta County Industry

MIXING THE BATCH—In producing iron for foundry castings at the Bay Foundry at Wells, it is essential to maintain the proper balance between the coke used in firing the furnace and the metal, which is to be melted. Scrap iron and pig iron are carefully weighed, as well as the coke, before being fed into the furnace.

SAND MOLDS—Molds made from carefully designed patterns are prepared from sand and clay. Separate moulds are required for each casting. A vibrator machine is used to pack the sand tightly so it will retain its shape after removal from the form. Molten iron later is poured into the molds to create the type of casting designed.

HOT STUFF—Molten iron pours from the furnace in a creamy liquid that is from 2700 to 2800 degrees Fahrenheit. Large buckets mounted on overhead conveyors receive the iron as it flows from the furnace and carry the hot stuff to the molds.

Radio In Review

By John Crosby

Salute to Mr. Waring
Thirty years ago, Fred Waring took his Banjazzra, a name he has probably lived to regret, to Altoona, Pa., to play his first out-of-town date. The band was composed of Waring, his brother Tom, Poley McClintock and the late Fred Buck, all of Tyrone, Pa. Since that time, the organization has greatly expanded, the out-of-town dates are countless, but the spirit of the original enterprise remains largely unchanged.

I have no great patience with the practice of throwing posies at show people solely because of their longevity, and I don't propose to do it here. However, Waring has considerably more than gray hair to show for his thirty years in the music field. Waring is an original and there aren't very many of them. Over the years he has gone his own way—leading popular taste, not following it or pandering to it. He is one of the most imitated of band leaders, but his outfit has too much on the ball to bother about imitating any one else.

The original band was a rather odd bunch. The boys could not only play instruments, they were adept at novelty numbers, musical pranks of all sorts and could, if pressed, deliver a stirring rendition of a hymn. In that respect, the orchestra hasn't changed. Waring persistently hires men who can do more than play in the band. His musicians can double in the glee club, do comedy bits and, if necessary, do animal noises. He has never needed guest stars. The outfit is full of talented musicians, many of whom have been with Waring for years. Fifteen members of the outfit have been with him for twenty or more years.

Perhaps Waring's most important contribution to popular music is the glee club. It's been imitated on a dozen other programs, but no other aggregation approaches the versatility, smoothness and sheer perfection of Waring's. It has had an immense influence on choral singing throughout the country. Today Waring's choral arrangements are used by 1,500 music educators in daily classroom work. Many of the special musical programs in schools and colleges have been directed by Waring's assistants. This summer, 400 music educators from forty states, Canada, and China, are attending the Waring Musical Workshop at Shawnee, Pa., to try to discover how Waring does it. Well, one of his techniques—I can pass this along from personal observation—is plain hard work. I once watched a Waring assistant work with the glee club to polish up three chords. It took half an hour and the young man was still tearing his hair out in chunks, which was his method of conveying dissatisfaction.

All this is meant to serve as an introduction to Waring's two summer programs. His morning program (NBC 11:00 a. m. E. D. T. Mondays through Fridays) continues unchanged. Last spring this program was singled out at the Ohio State University's Institute for Education by Radio as the outstanding daytime program on the air. In addition, Mr. Waring, who is one of the few persons in radio who works harder in the summer than in the winter, has taken over the half hour spot usually occupied by Fibber McGee and Molly (NBC 9:30 p. m. E. D. T. Tuesdays.)

There is little difference between the morning and evening programs. A Waring production is a finished bit of musical showmanship from beginning to end. You will hear the current juke box favorites, though not played in a juke box way, perhaps a folk tune, a college band number, some monkeyshines on an electric guitar, or possibly, an old favorite revived for the occasion. The orchestra, the glee club, the soloists work on this variety of material, individually, and collectively, in a manner that is calculated to produce the most pleasing tone colors. There is variety, pace and excellent orchestration. But above all, the boys seem to be enjoying themselves. I guess that's the secret.

Peculiar Reasoning

IT is difficult to follow the reasoning of Federal Judge Frank Picard of Detroit who suspended sentence upon a bank embezzler because, the judge decided, the bank "dangled large sums of money" before the defendant had failed to pay the employee adequately for his services.

The confessed embezzler was paid $250 per month, which the judge decided was insufficient to permit the employee to maintain the standing in the community that his position at the bank required.

In effect, the judge's ruling indicted the bank for the crime committed by its employee, while excusing the embezzler for his act. The defendant had admitted taking $2,500 from the bank in a period of two years by juggling service charge records.

The judge's decision in this case cannot adequately serve the cause of justice because it provides an excuse for others in position of trust to betray that trust on similar grounds. We do not argue with Judge Picard that anyone has either a moral or legal right to betray a trust because of inadequate salary. There are other recourses to the correction of such conditions than by embezzlement.

There may have been factors in this case which served to mitigate the crime, but the two factors which Judge Picard cited are not among them. Large sums of money are "dangled" before thousands of persons in public and private business, bank employees and others, and by Judge Picard's standards, many of them are underpaid. Fortunately for our society, these people recognize their responsibility to their trust above and beyond their personal inadequacies.

Charter for Service

THE Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce will officially receive its charter tonight from state officers of the civic organization, formally launching the new Escanaba organization on a program dedicated to community service.

There is an important place in the community for this new civic group, just as there is an important place available for every person who is willing to offer his services unselfishly for the betterment of the community. No city ever reaches a saturation point in public spiritedness. The more people who join together in more organizations to benefit the community, the better the community will be as a place in which to work, to live and to play. In recognition of that fact, Escanaba wholeheartedly welcomes the Junior Chamber of Commerce in full appreciation of the ideals and the principles for which that organization stands.

In many communities throughout the United States, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has been a powerful influence for more and better public service. There can be no doubt that the Escanaba chapter will make a similar contribution to the welfare of our own community.

Even before the charter was formally approved for the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce, the new organization had made its influence felt. With the experience and impetus of a great organization behind it, the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce is destined to play an increasingly greater part in the development of community life in the years ahead.

Ford Fires Goons

REASONABLE Americans will uphold the action of the Ford Motor company in discharging 32 foremen for committing acts of violence and terrorism in connection with the recent 47-day strike of foremen at the Ford plants.

The men were discharged following a complete investigation of the illegal acts and after hearings were conducted for the accused. The foremen's union, charging the company with violating its promise that there would be no recriminations or reprisals, has called its members to a meeting Sunday in Detroit to consider another walkout.

It is significant that the men are not discharged for participating in a strike but for their acts of violence in connection with the strike. The use of goon squads in labor disputes is deplored by all right-minded Americans, including a majority of labor union members.

No employer should be expected to retain in his employment men who use clubs and knives on fellowmen who may hold different views on labor matters. Labor unions become nothing more than a bloody racket under such conditions.

New Fishing Law

THE revised commercial fishing bill signed into law by Governor Sigler makes several changes in fishing regulations, the effects of which will be closely studied by sports fishermen.

One of these changes restores northern pike to the commercial list when taken in commercial fishing gear from Great Lakes waters. This is a change that has been advocated by commercial fishermen for some time, who have argued that northern pike have increased considerably in Great Lakes waters, destroying other species of game fish and causing extensive damage to commercial fish nets. The effect of this change on the sports fishing of northern pike and other game fish will be watched with particular interest.

Other changes of particular interest to sports fishermen shortens the closed season on the commercial netting of perch and clarifies the definition of a public dock, within a half mile of which net fishing is prohibited. Just how the revised statute works out in its effect upon the hook and line fishermen will be a matter for close study in the future.

VETERAN RAILWAYMEN RETIRE

(Antigo, Wis. Journal)

With the close of today, two Antigo veterans of the Chicago & North Western Ry. retire on pension. They are Division Supt. D. B. McIntyre and Chief Dispatcher Paul W. Raettig. Mr. McIntyre has had 49 years of railroad service and Mr. Raettig 47.

Service records of close to half a century are always worthy of note, and especially so when they include evidence of steady progress from small beginnings to positions of prominence and great responsibility. Even with organizations, such as the railroads, where seniority has considerable bearing on advancement, other more important considerations enter in when the higher levels are reached. They include executive ability, readiness to work "around the clock" if an emergency situation requires it, but at the same time doing one's own job and not doing a subordinate's for him; talent in placing authority with those who are best fitted to assume it without making it meaningless by interference; holding to full account those with whom authority is placed; a keen sense of coordination to keep diverse activities in step with each other; habitual attitudes of fairness in matters of discipline, and the ability to hold the loyalty and confidence of associates and subordinates.

We have known of cases where men, through unusual circumstances, were promoted to executive positions but soon relinquished them, either because they realized their unfitness or because they were not willing to carry the burdens of office and preferred the freedom of a job whose responsibilities ended when the whistle blew. They should not be blamed, for they have the right of choice, and by their attitude have shown unreasoning for bigger things. When the man does not fit the job the job suffers.

MORMON PIONEERS

(Chicago Daily News)

Last week at Nauvoo, Ill., one seat of the Mormon theocracy, ceremonies honoring the Mormon pioneers were held. They will be held throughout the next 10 days at various points along the Mormon Trail between Nauvoo and Salt Lake City. Just a hundred years ago this month the vanguard of the Mormon pioneers arrived at the shores of Great Salt Lake.

Driven from Nauvoo, after assassination of Joseph Smith, their prophet, the Mormons found sanctuary in the wilderness. Thousands of them died on the way; but those who survived conquered Nature. They made the desert bloom.

The circumstances under which the Mormons were driven from Illinois reflect no credit on either the Mormons or the people of Illinois. Both were guilty of intolerance, lawless acts and greed for gain and power that made conflict and tragedy inevitable.

But that was a century ago. Today descendants of the exiles and those who drove them into exile join in honoring men and women whose courage and faith wrote a thrilling chapter in American annals.

HAVE GOTTEN

(Scrapbook Item)

Durham: Today in our English class our teacher told us that there is no such word in the English language as "gotten" except in the word forgotten. Will you please discuss it for us?—R. P.

Answer: This same comment has shown up in my mail several times lately. How and by whom the idea has been spread that "gotten" is an improper word is a mystery. But it is a superstition and nothing else.

Perhaps the answer lies in the fact that in British usage "gotten" seldom occurs except in such words as ill-gotten. But reference to any American dictionary will show that "gotten" is the customary past participle in the United States. (See GET, page 1053, Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition.)

Of course, "got" also is used in America as the past participle of "get." But there is no reason in grammar or logic why "got" is more proper than or preferable

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—When the list of 842 registered lobbyists was made public some time ago, almost every interest was represented. Wool, sugar, metals, motors, they were all there with a man to break a lance for them.

Childs

Maybe an addition to this list is called for—a lobbyist for the public interest. A people's lobby does exist here in Washington. But it never has had very much influence perhaps because it lacks the generous operating funds that most lobbyists have.

The other day, with little debate, a bill passed the house which will cost the average household money if it finally becomes law. It is a bill to scale down the authority of the federal power commission to regulate the sale of natural gas.

How much it would cost the consumer is arguable. The sponsors for the measure say the added cost would be nominal. The opposition says no one can foresee how much would be added onto the consumer's gas bill.

—PUBLIC ON SIDELINES—

Among the backers of the bill are Congressmen from states in which there are important natural-gas interests. They said repeatedly, during the discussion on the floor, that "the public" had been given full opportunity to express opposition.

The record of the hearings shows, however, that "the public" took a minor part in the proceedings. Many of the witnesses were from oil and gas companies that have been trying for a long time to curb the authority of the power commission. Others were Washington lobby-lawyers representing one or another of the private interests involved—including coal, with the mine owners anxious to check the expansion of the natural-gas industry.

Still others spoke for state utility commissions. They argued for states' rights in controlling the production and local use of natural gas. Limiting the federal authority to interstate transportation.

Public spokesmen appeared for Kansas City, Mo., Cleveland, Ohio, and Rockford, Ill. They opposed the bill because it would increase gas rates in their cities.

One thing becomes evident when you look into an issue such as this one. It is so complicated, so hedged around by legalisms, that "the public" rarely gets the point. In the present congress, these changes are being brought about quietly, with as little publicity as possible. And "the public" may discover what it means when the cost of living keeps going up.

The theory, congress is meant to represent the interests of all the people. More and more, however, the tendency is for the congressman to speak for the special interests of his district or his state. He becomes a kind of ambassador for the major industry back home.

Thus, Ross Ritzley of Oklahoma was the chief sponsor of the bill to cut down federal authority over natural gas. In the senate, a similar measure is backed by Sen. Ed Moore of that same state. Ritzley and Moore are ambassadors for oil and gas.

In spite of the last-minute rush, it is possible the senate may go along with the house in curbing the power commission. But it would certainly be wiser to take more time, so that the effects of this move can be studied and made clear.

—EXCESS BAGGAGE—

Several years of preparation went into the amendments to the power commission act which give the FCC authority over natural gas. Chairman Nelson Lee Smith of the FCC recognizes the need for some changes. The corrective changes he proposed were incorporated in a substitute bill introduced by Rep. Percy Priest of Tennessee. But these changes did not go far enough to suit the ambassadors of gas and oil. The substitute was voted down, 254 to 64.

The special-interest ambassadors have, of course, a legitimate right to defend the group back home that means prosperity and jobs. That right, however, is not superior to the public interest. If congress is to be nothing more than an arena in which the special interests struggle to get their own way by the familiar process of log-rolling, then we might better substitute the lobbyists themselves. In this light the congressman appears to be merely a rather expensive middleman for transmitting the wishes of a wide variety of special interests.

to "gotten." Good "have got" or "have gotten" is good American usage in such constructions as these:

I have gotten (got) well.
He has gotten (got) his lessons.
We have gotten (got) word from him.
She has just gotten (got) a new dress.
I would have gotten (got) here sooner but for the rain.

My Have Gotten pamphlet goes into much more detail than this brief column will permit. It also contains a simple key to those constructions in which either "have got" or "have gotten" is correct. For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

Meanwhile, let me point out that either "got" or "gotten" is unnecessary in the meaning of "own" or "possess."

Avoid: She has got brown hair.
Better: She has brown hair.
Avoid: They have got the same name.
Better: They have the same name.
Avoid: He has got a good disposition.
Better: He has a good disposition.
Likewise, "got" is unnecessary in the meaning of "must" or "should."
Avoid: She has got to leave early.
Better: She must (has to) leave early.
Avoid: He has got to apologize.
Better: He must (has to) apologize.

FISHING THOUGHTS—The sun was lowering itself slowly into the trees bordering the Green bay shore and the coolness of evening replaced the lingering heat of the day.

The sun's path across the surface of the water was scarcely disturbed by a ripple, although farther out a little eddy of wind etched a design on the metallic sheen of the bay.

Fishing can be a time of relaxation and undisturbed contemplation—when the fish are not biting. Nature and its manifestations are so varied there is no monotony. Man is more closely akin to sky and land and water than he himself will often believe, yet he is of them part and parcel and for that reason he should learn to understand and appreciate.

A U. S. Forest Service planting exhibit is now on display in the window of the Empson Insurance Agency, Gladstone, and was furnished by Acting Ranger Elmer Matson of the Rapid River district.

and he was persecuted. Copernicus said the earth was the center of the universe and he was believed for a thousand years.

There was the Stone Age, the Iron Age, and now there is the Atomic Age. Or so it has been called. Some people say the Atomic Age will last only long enough for man to destroy it, while others are more optimistic about atomic energy and believe man's future is brighter than ever.

To a fisherman in a boat on a quiet evening it does not matter too much. He might worry about such things before and after a fishing trip, but not during one.

MAN IS THE CENTER—It is easier to believe that the earth is the center of the universe than it is to believe that night does not fall. Man is forever the center of his own little universe, and he believes that which he observes. Night does fall. He sees the sun sink into the earth, and the darkness of approaching night.

He knows now, of course, that the earth turns and that the decline of the sun is only apparent, not true. The sun does not sink toward the western horizon. Instead the revolution of the earth swings the western horizon toward and away from the sun. Yet night does fall, and the sun does sink, illusory as it may appear. It is this that man has observed for millions of years, it is this that he describes, it is this that he believes.

So many of our certainties have no better foundation. They are accepted traditions based on limited experience. Sometime the experience of man will be sufficiently wide, varied, and true that he will understand the world in which he lives.

World peace? Perhaps then.

Q. Is it true that the world's biggest factory was being occupied rent free?
A. Yes. The Dodge-Chrysler plant in Chicago, which cost the Government $170,000,000 to build and equip, was being used by Preston Tucker, rent free, the Government taking the risk, to produce the "car of tomorrow."

Q. How many States have no minimum requirements for "getting on the ballot"?
A. Six. Arkansas, Georgia, Kansas, Mississippi, New Mexico, and South Carolina. These States have no minimum requirements for getting candidates of a new or minority party on the ballot.

Q. Under the late President Roosevelt, how many men served as Secretary of the Navy?
A. Four. Claude A. Swanson, Charles Edison, Frank Knox and James V. Forrestal.

Q. Did communities pay more for community recreation in 1946 than previously?
A. Yes. In 1946 they paid a total of nearly $52,000,000 which was a new high. It was about $13,000,000 more than any previous period.

Q. Do we have a Secretary of Public Health?
A. No. But Senators Taft and Fullbright sponsored a bill, approved by the Senate Committee on Expenditures, which provides for the establishment of a Department of Health, Education and Security, headed by a Secretary with Cabinet rank. The Department would blanket in it the Federal Security Agency, the United States Public Health Service, the Food and Drug Administration, the United States Office of Education and several other agencies.

Q. Was the USS Monticello the largest American vessel used for carrying troops during the recent war?
A. No. The USS West Point, formerly queen of the American Merchant Marine, was the largest, fastest, and most luxurious passenger liner ever built in the U. S., during the war she had a displacement of 35,550 tons.

Q. Why does soup stay hotter longer than boiling water?
A. Because the grease and other ingredients in the soup retain the heat longer than the particles of water. At the same time, because of their viscosity, they prevent the circulation of the heated particles.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia still is popular with his colleagues, especially Republicans; but, around the house of representatives' cloakroom, it is whispered that Gene is slipping. He hasn't quite as many relatives on the payroll as before.

But the congressman from Georgia still probably tops the Nepotism list in the nation's capital. Here are some of the relatives receiving salaries at the expense of the taxpayer through the benefit of "Goobers" Cox:

Lamar, P. Cox, son, runs his father's office. Salary—$7,022.40.

Mrs. Rosa Robinson, sister, is listed as a clerk in the congressman's office, though she doesn't come near Washington. Her checks are mailed to her at Camilla, Ga., the Cox family's home town. Salary—$3,185.16.

Mrs. Jim Lou Cox Hoggard, sister, postmistress at Camilla, Ga. Salary—$3,600.

Charles M. Cox, nephew, executive assistant to the assistant production administrator for the agriculture department. In fairness, it should be noted that he began as a clerk and worked his way up, officials say, without his uncle's assistance. Salary—$7,100.

Total "take" for the Cox family, including the $15,000 paid the congressman, is $35,907.56.

—BEHIND GREEK REVOLT—

According to the diplomatic grapevine from Athens, the so-called Communist uprisings inside Greece were carefully timed—not by the Communists, but by the Tsaldaris-Maximos government—to coincide with the departure of Gov. Dwight Griswold, Greek aid administrator for Athens.

The Greek government's motive is to convince Griswold that the Tsaldaris-Maximos regime is essential to the security of the country and must remain in power.

Actually, what happened was that the EAM or so-called Communist group was holding conferences with Prof. Alexander Svolos of Athens University just a few days ago with a view to a political compromise by which they could resume participation in Greek political affairs under U. S. protection, when suddenly, about 4,000 of them were arrested.

U. S. diplomats are pretty well convinced that there can be no political stability in Greece and no success for the American aid program if the present reactionary Greek regime remains in power. Even patient Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh is reported to have come to this conclusion. To counteract this, Tsaldaris is doing his best to convince Gov. Griswold that there would only be more chaos if the present Greek government resigned.

NOTE—Greek internal troubles should be distinguished from Greek border warfare, which is much more likely to be Russian-inspired. Unquestionably, Soviet policy is to make things as hot as possible for the United States along the Albanian, Yugoslav and Bulgarian borders.

—GOP MINIMUM WAGE—

Immediately after congress passed the Taft-Hartley labor law, Republican senate leaders decided to appease unorganized labor by rushing a new minimum-wage increase from 40 to 60 cents an hour. They figured this would restore the party with several million workers who don't have the protection of high union wages.

However, GOP senators reckoned without some of their fellow-Republicans in the house, especially Missouri's Max Schwabe. At a closed meeting of the House Republican Steering committee, the big, farm-bred congressman rode roughshod over the GOP leadership and the proposed minimum-wage increase.

Majority Leader Charlie Halleck had invited all Republican members of the education and labor committee to sit in with the steering committee and eleven showed up. Their vote was six to five against a higher minimum wage. Afterward, Schwabe admitted working "night and day" to convert his fellow Republicans.

"All a minimum-wage increase will do," Schwabe argued behind closed doors, "is to sentence those in the lower-income brackets to unemployment and poverty during the next economic slump. The bill would raise wages all along the line. And you cannot disassociate wages from prices."

With this Wisconsin's genial Charles Kersten did not agree.

"An increase in the minimum wage does not mean billiard-balling wages all the way to the top," he declared. "It is a social principle which applies only to the lower brackets. The upper brackets do not need a minimum wage, so there is no reason why this bill should affect their salaries."

Speaking for the Republican leadership Indiana's Halleck contended that the principle of a minimum wage had been established in the original 1938 bill.

"Now it's just a question of improving on it," he insisted.

But he made no impression on Schwabe, who pooh-poohed the idea that the bill would be a good political move after the tough Taft-Hartley bill.

Besner Child Is Subject Of First Prize Photograph

The prize winning photo in a contest recently conducted by the Washington Star features the likeness of Jeanne, the 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Besner, of Washington, D. C., and grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Besner of Manistique.

The little girl is decked out in her finest, as if ready to go to a party, and on her face is the most fetching of smiles. The photo was taken by her uncle, Francis X. Mahoney, a news photographer of Washington, D. C.

Little Jeanne is the daughter of the late Capt. Francis Besner, who was killed in action during the war.

RETURNS HOME FROM YUCATAN

Mrs. Dorothy Shipman
Found Region Quaint
And Delightful

"I saw so much that it would hardly do to tell you all about it right away," said Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, who recently returned from a several week's trip to Yucatan and Guatemala, where she visited the ancient ruins that abound in that area and took time out to study the life and customs of the people.

She states that this journey was perhaps the most delightful of all the annual journeys she has taken and she expressed herself as charmed by the natives of those two regions, particularly those of Guatemala. The people have a natural politeness that is unspoiled by tourist exploitation, she said.

This trait of Central American people, she said, is in sharp contrast with the "tourist wise" people of Mexico, who she found had become alert to the opportunities for easy money that the tourists provide. She noted, among other things, that there were no beggars in Guatemala, which is decidedly not the case in Mexico.

Everyone had polite greetings that were neither servile nor familiar, for the strangers.

Asked if she found the climate oppressive, she answered that it was quite the other way and that heavy wraps were needed at night.

She made the trip across the Gulf of Mexico, to and from New Orleans by plane.

Mrs. Shipman is preparing a lecture about her trip for presentation along with colored movies she took as she went. This one should be particularly interesting and informative.

Permit Necessary To Build Road On State Owned Land

Owners of hunting camp sites and loggers operating in this area are being admonished by representatives of the State Department of Conservation that when it becomes necessary to build a road over state owned land to get to their property, they must make application to the department and a representative of the department will lay out the road.

Carl Makel, conservation department district forester, states that this matter has in the past been generally ignored, but the department is becoming more strict in the enforcement of the order and that loggers who break roads with bulldozers through state owned forest lands without permission to do so are liable to arrest for trespassing.

PLAN TO ENTER QUEEN CONTEST

C. Of C. To Sponsor
Candidate At U. P.
State Fair

Schoolcraft county charm and pulchritude will vie with that of other counties in Upper Michigan at the 1947 U. P. State Fair at Escanaba, August 19, when the Fair Queen and her court will be chosen.

Through the sponsorship of the Manistique—Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce, a young woman to represent the county in the queen contest will be selected. The costume to be worn has not as yet been selected, but it is unlikely that Miss Schoolcraft County will appear as an Indian maiden as has been the case in years past. Rather, garments emphasizing Manistique as a blueberry capital will be used.

The 1946 "Queens Day" was the outstanding event of last year's fair, with 18 girls representing as many communities in ten of the 15 counties in the peninsula competing.

Miss Joan Weber was the Schoolcraft county contestant last year.

Claude E. Bishop, field representative of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, will be "Queens Day" manager.

Social

Mrs. Gordon Hughes was hostess to members of the Manistique Study club at a social meeting held Wednesday evening at her home on Range street. Eleven members and the following guests were present: Mrs. H. B. Beach, Miss Dorothy Watson, Mrs. W. R. Harting and Mrs. Omer Dybevik.

Mrs. Beach spoke to the club telling of her experiences and life as the wife of a naval attaché in Brazil. Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, who is moving away, was presented with a gift. Refreshments were served later.

Rampaging Tigers Snap Yank Victory String With 8 To 0 Shutout

HUTCH ALLOWS ONLY 2 SINGLES

Bengals Back Up Great Pitching Performance, Collect 18 Hits

BY FRANK KENESSON
Detroit, July 18 (P)—Freddie Hutchinson, serious Detroit Tiger right-hander, squelched the New York Yankees' bid for their 20th straight victory—an American league record—with a near-perfect two-hit pitching performance today in which he yielded just two singles, one a bunt, as the Tigers halted the rampaging Yanks at 19 in a row by the shut-out count of 8 to 0.

Hutchinson, who faced only 28 men—one more than the minimum—hadn't started a game in a month because of an ailing shoulder but had everything he needed today, and then some.

He struck out eight men and walked none as the Yanks hit only five balls out of the infield in their futile twilight bid for the record.

Hutchinson himself, with two doubles and a single, got more hits than he gave the Yanks, and the Tigers put together their wildest hitting day of the season to register 18 safeties off the combined pitching of Randy Gumpert and Karl Drews.

Joe DiMaggio's sharp single to left in the second inning, when he was promptly erased in a double play, was New York's only hit until George (Shuffy) Stinewiss beat out a bunt to the right of the mound leading off the seventh. Stinewiss never got past first and he was the only runner the Yanks left on base.

The Tigers, eager to humiliate the Yankees as partial atonement for New York's wide first place margin, scored twice in the first inning on a walk and three singles, by Eddie Lake, Dick Wakefield and Walter (Hoot) Evers, added another in the sixth as Hutchinson knocked it across with his second two-bagger, and kayoed Gumpert to his first defeat of the season with a four-run outburst in the seventh, when Drews replaced him.

Stopped At 19
Five of the Tigers' six hits came in succession in that inning.

The setback stopped the Yankees' winning streak at 19 games, which equaled the American league record established by the Chicago White Sox "hitless wonders" in 1906, and left the Yanks 10½ games ahead of second place Detroit.

The Tiger victory lopped a game off New York's league lead, but the 28,718 fans who turned out for a contest that started under threatening conditions, continued despite a misty rain and ended in bright sunshine didn't care much about that.

The big thing was putting an end to New York's runaway winning streak, which included six games before they started west and 13 on their current road trip.

Hutchinson took care of that in masterful fashion.
"It was the greatest game I ever saw pitched," said Tiger Catcher Bob Swift. "I never saw a pitcher with finer stuff nor sharper control. It was the kind of pitching that should have earned him a no-hitter."

Hutchinson, who hurt his shoulder last May 19 and has started only twice since then, the last time on June 19, declared his arm felt fine.

"I didn't have any pain earlier this week when I worked an inning in relief," Hutch said, "so I felt like it was all right. It feels better than ever now."

Hutchinson, the game's star on the mound as well as at bat, had plenty of help at the plate from his mates.

Dick Wakefield, Hoot Evers and Eddie Mayo also collected three hits apiece. Vic Wertz and George Kell each had two and the only Tiger who went hitless was First Baseman Roy Cullenbine.

Kell's two hits in his last turns at bat boosted his batting average to .339 and put him within reach of the league batting leadership held by Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, at .340. Boudreau was scheduled to play in a night game tonight.

Operative X1957-0, our Idaho snooper, has informed us that Don Bichler, of the 1946 Eskymos, an EHS 1947 graduate who is now employed in Idaho for the summer months, is interested in playing on the South squad in the U. P. all star football game at Negaunee Aug. 16 and that if he is selected, he will return to the Upper Peninsula in time to enter training with the all stars. Armed with this information, we will plead Bichler's case before the board of directors, whose own list failed to include a single EHS footballer. Bichler played a guard position with the Eskymos last fall and we are certain that Faust Ferzacca, who will coach the South team, would be tickled to have Bichler on his side. As anticipated, a hot debate is centering around the action of Referee Johnny Behr in stopping the Graziano-Zale fight the other night after Zale had hit the deck in the sixth round. Competent ringsiders, however, agree that the referee's decision was correct and that Zale no longer was in any position or condition to defend himself further. When the bout was stopped, Zale was draped over the middle rope and the Rock was pounding from behind with everything but the ring post. Those who lost a few shekels on Zale yelled in protest at Referee Behr's decision, but what are a few shekels compared with a man's life?

Six-Game Losing Streak Ends As Indians Win, 6-0

Cleveland, July 18 (P)—Don Black pitched and batted the Cleveland Indians to a 6 to 0 shutout over the Washington Senators tonight to snap the Tribe's six-game losing streak. Black held the Nats to five singles and contributed a base-clearing double in the second inning.

The Indians rapped Early Wynn for nine blows, including four doubles. Dale Mitchell collected a two-bagger in the fifth inning, marking the 20th consecutive game in which he has hit safely.

Cleveland wasted no time getting to Wynn. Three walks and Black's double accounted for three runs in the second, and two-bagger by Hal Peck, Mitchell and Lou Boudreau gave the Tribe two more markers in the fifth inning.

Cleveland added its final run in the sixth on singles by Jim Hegan and Peck and Mitchell's long fly. Washington 000 000 000-0 0

Brooklyn, July 18 (P)—Ralph Branca, 21-year-old right-hander, pitched seven perfect innings before giving up a hit to Enos Slaughter, leading off the eighth for St. Louis, and went on to blank the Cardinals for Brooklyn 7-0 tonight. Ed Stanky, with two doubles and a triple, and Jackie Robinson, with a home run and single led the Dodger attack.

ATHLETICS BOW TO CHICAGO, 4-1

Chicago, July 18 (P)—Joe Haynes allowed only four hits in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 4-1 triumph over Philadelphia before 17,938 persons here tonight. The Athletics scored an unearned run in the ninth inning to rob Haynes of a shutout as the veteran right-hander posted his fifth victory in the rapid time of one hour and 34 minutes.

Don Kolloway's double and the first of two Haynes singles accounted for Chicago's first two runs off Jesse Flores in the second inning. The White Sox polished off Flores with another pair in the seventh as Luke Appling's twenty-first double and No. 11-1947 hit scored Haynes and Floyd Baker.

Joe Coleman finished up for Flores.

After two singles in the first inning, Haynes did not allow another hit until Barney McCosky singled with two out in the eighth.

Western Amateur Favorites Advance

By SKIPPER PATRICK

Des Moines, July 18 (P)—Blazing three eagles along the way, Defending Champion Frank Stranahan beat down Bill Williams (Bill) Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., 2 and 1, and Marvin (Bud) Ward topped John Jacobs, Cedar Rapids, Ia., 1 up, as the favorites advanced to the semi-finals of the Western Amateur golf tournament today.

Stranahan of Toledo, O., one of the game's greatest competitors, was forced to play his best golf thus far in the tournament in getting past Campbell, Princeton university's Eastern Intercollegiate champion last year.

Ward, who has won two National and two Western amateur meets, had to rally on the home stretch to out Jacob, Big Nine champion at Iowa university in 1946.

Semi-final foe for Stranahan in a 36-hole match tomorrow will be Thomas Sheehan of Birmingham, Mich., who won today over veteran Joe Switzer of St. Louis, 4 and 2. Both Sheehan and Switzer are former Notre Dame stars.

Ward will duel tomorrow with Robert (Bob) Willits, the soft-spoken, handsome city lad, who whipped Robert Cardinal of San Francisco, a Stanford university ace last year, 2 and 1.

PHILS WHIPPED BY CUBS, 7-5

Four Extra Base Hits Net Four Runs In Big Inning

Philadelphia, July 18 (P)—The Chicago Cubs unlimbered their heavy artillery for four extra-base hits and as many runs in the fourth inning tonight, then went on to whip the Philadelphia Phillies 7 to 5 before a crowd of 16,573 at Shibe Park.

After spotting the Phils three runs in the first two innings, the Cubs jumped on Schoolboy Rowe in the third with a home run by pinch hitter Marv Rickert, consecutive triples by Peanuts Lowrey and Andy Patko and a double by Phil Cavarretta.

The Bruins sent Rowe to the showers in the third and continued their 16-hit attack at the expense of Fred Schmidt, Blix Donnelly and Charley Schanz. Two hits and a walk off Schmidt were good for another run in the fifth and two more tallies showed on the scoreboard when they got to Donnelly for three singles and a sacrifice in the seventh. Lowrey, Patko and Cavarretta led the attack with three hits each.

Manager Charlie Grimm also used four hurlers to scatter the Phils' 12 hits with Emil Kusch getting credit for the victory. Three of the blows were good for two runs in the first frame, Harry Walker's double scored Rowe with another in the second and then Kusch quieted Ben Chapman's boys until the seventh when they picked up a fourth run on Howie Schultz' single bringing Del Ennis home from second. Jim Tabor's home run off Claude Passeau in the ninth ended the scoring.

ZULU CANNIBALS — Perhaps the most unique baseball team barnstorming the nation this year is the Zulu Cannibal Giants of Louisville, who will play the Escanaba Bears here next Thursday evening, July 24 at the City diamond. Grass skirts and native nicknames lend African atmosphere to the famed colored team. The Zulu infield is pictured above.

Menominee Golfer Mary Agnes Wall Takes State Title

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 18 (P)—Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, captured the Michigan Women's Golf Association championship today with a brilliant 2 and 1 victory over Shirley Spork of Detroit, national intercollegiate champion.

Miss Wall, twice runnerup for the title, finally carried off the long-sought crown by sinking a 60 foot putt for a birdie on the 17th hole of the 36-hole final to close out the match.

Playing steady, determined golf over the tough Blytheheld country club course, Miss Wall finished the 18-hole morning round one-up over her favored rival.

Miss Spork, red-haired Michigan State Normal co-ed, continued to trail going into the afternoon round as the two finalists halved the first five holes.

But on the sixth green Miss Spork sank a 25-footer for a birdie to come even with Miss Wall, who had been outdripping her against a strong wind that hampered play.

Miss Spork's advantage lasted only until the eighth hole, where she had trouble previously. At that point Miss Wall won with a five, going one-up to finish the first nine ahead-one more.

The next six holes were even, Miss Wall retaining her one-up lead to the 16th, where Miss Spork yesterday eliminated defending champion Sally Sessions of Muskegon with a tricky chip shot to ride into the final round.

Miss Spork had won the 16th in the morning round to cut Miss Wall's margin to 1-up, after trailing two down. This afternoon it looked as though Miss Wall was heading into trouble when she went into the rough with her approach shot to the 16th hole.

However, she slammed her way out with a magnificent shot that landed the ball within eight feet of the cup. She sank it for a birdie 3 as Miss Spork got a par-4, putting the Menominee maid 2-up with two to play.

On the 17th hole, Miss Wall sank her 60-foot putt, closing out the match and giving her the title after two hard years of effort.

Miss Spork, although trailing nearly all the way, played doggedly and seemed determined not to give up. But Miss Wall kept the upper hand to take the title with her spectacular shot on the 17th green.

HOMERS HELP GIANTS WIN, 8-3

Victory Over Reds Puts New York In Second Position

New York, July 8 (P)—Willard Marshall hit three successive home runs and Johnny Mize and Bobby Thomson hit one apiece to lead the New York Giants to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds tonight. The victory enabled the Giants to wrest second place away from the Boston Braves who lost to Pittsburgh.

Larry Jansen hung up his ninth victory although tagged for 13 hits with rain halting the game for 12 minutes with two out in the ninth.

Mize connected for his 27th homer to put the Giants in front, and Marshall followed with his 22nd. Marshall's 23rd and 24th came with Mize on base each time to bring his total to 73 which tops the league.

Thompson hit his 16th homer before Marshall connected for his third circuit smash with Mize on.

After pitching shutout ball for seven innings, Jansen weakened in the last two frames to allow the Reds to score three times on five hits. The Reds got a hit or more in every inning but the second when the retired in order.

Williams Hits Two Round-Trippers But Browns Click, 9-8

St. Louis, July 18 (P)—Ted Williams hit two home runs tonight but Ray Coleman, Jeff Heath and Paul Lehner slammed out one circuit blow apiece to send the St. Louis Browns out ahead of the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 8.

The Sox garnered 17 hits, including five in five trips to the plate for Williams, off Brownsie hurler Cliff Fanning and Glenn Moulder, but the St. Louis batters made their 10 blows, three Boston errors and five walks count to give Herold (Muddy) Ruel's club the winning margin.

The lead changed hands four times.

Henry Thompson, one of two Negroes signed by the Browns yesterday, got his first hit in the second inning, a single, but was out on his three other trips.

Ferriss, Murphy (4), Klinger (6), Dorish (7) and Tebbetts; Fanning, Moulder (7) and Moss.

Winning Run Made Without A Hit As Pirates Nin Braves

Boston, July 18 (P)—Scoring the winning run in the eighth inning without making a hit, the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight defeated the Boston Braves 2-1 before 19,622 red fans who saw a near free-for-all in the fifth inning when Pirate Third Sacker Frankie Gustine, forced to drop to avoid being struck by a pitch, charged Boston hurler Bill Voiselle.

BABSON WRITES ABOUT STRIKES

Fish Handlers' Dispute In Gloucester Is Topic

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Gloucester, Mass.—I am down here to my old home town which has been tied up by strikes of the fish handlers. Everyone has been arguing about the rights and responsibilities of the other fellow. Discussion, usually leads to a fair conclusion; but I hate to see people get mad, especially while engaged in a great celebration of St. Peter and Christ's Teachings that love for one another is the only answer.

Reasons for Strikes
This strike, like others, has included a demand for more money. There are various ways to get more money, namely through hourly pay increases, paid vacations, paid holidays, more overtime pay, etc. In my talks with strikers everywhere, however, I find that the basic struggle now is over the question whether the union or the owners are to run the business. The strikers take me around to the stores, and show me the increased retail prices and I cannot help being sympathetic with them for wanting more money. Besides, these people, as a rule, have several to feed and clothe; while we and other stockholders usually have only small families. But when it comes to letting them dictate business policies, I am for the owners.

The employers, ten years ago, paid these fish handlers 60 cents per hour. Now they are perfectly willing to pay practically double this or $1.15 per hour; but they cannot afford to pay $1.30 per hour. In many instances, two or three members of the family are working which gives an excellent family income to the fish handlers. The employers insist, and I am sure they are right, that if further pay raises are granted, the retail price of fish must be increased. As the retail price of fish since 1940 has already doubled in most stores, they question whether people will eat so much fish if prices are further increased. We all know that when the barbers raise the price of haircuts, their customers go a few days longer between haircuts and the barbers are no better off in the end.

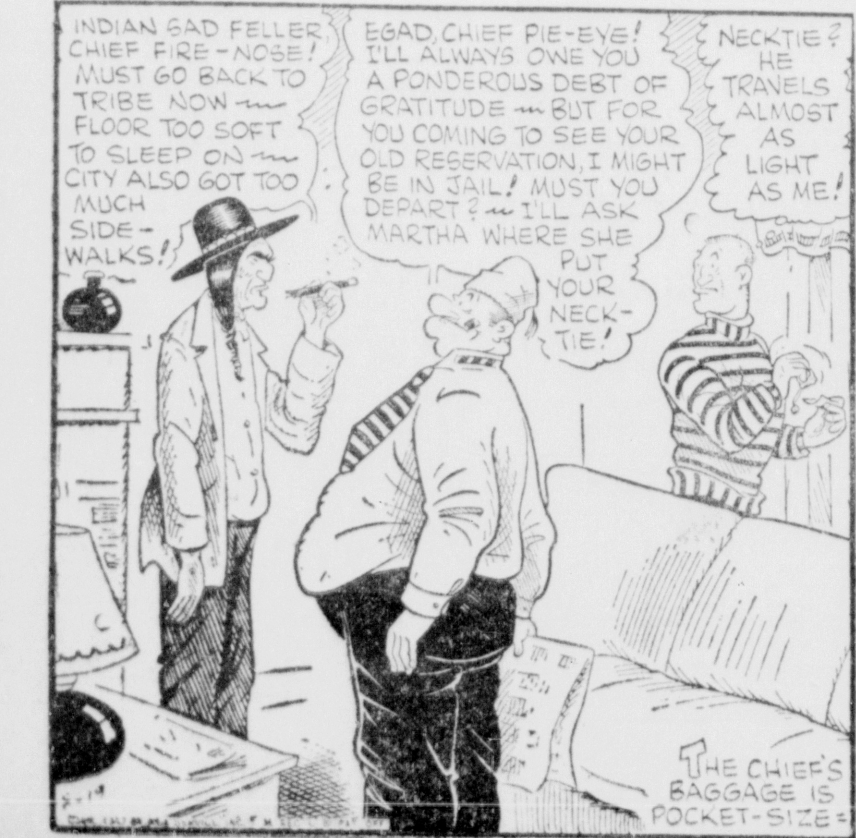

Something About Fish
There are two large fish unions here. One is made up of the fishermen who go on the high seas and catch the fish. They do not receive ordinary wages, but rather a share of the catch. Conditions vary with different ports, but usually about 40 per cent of the catch goes to the vessel owners, and about 60 per cent is divided amongst the crew and skipper, with a special extra bonus to the skipper which bonus comes out of the owners. Some expenses are paid by the crew and other expenses by the owners. Thus, the fishermen are really on a "piece-work" basis. Moreover, it is hard work and they are subject to 24 hour call.

When fish comes to the wharf, it is sold through public auction so as to be fair to both the fishermen and the boat owners. After it has been purchased, the vessel delivers it to the firm which is to cut off the heads, skin it and fillet it. This work is done by the fish handlers, the ones who have been on a strike. They stand in long rows by benches and the fish come to them on belts. They work very quickly and with much care so as to get out all the bones. They prepare it for market.

What Consumers Want
From letters coming to me from all parts of the country, it is evident that consumers want fish; also that if the price should be reduced, they would buy much more fish. Hence they wish the fish handlers would agree to piece-work and be willing to be paid according to what they produce as are the fishermen who catch the fish. The slow workers might then get only 85 cents per hour; while the fast workers might get $1.50 an hour. This would be fair to all people and especially to the consumers, who read this column.

Every wage worker should remember that if his group alone could raise wages with only the price of his product going up, this would be fine. But the workers in all other groups are sure to follow, causing the prices of everything to go up more and more, would be better off in the end. Hence, we must finally choose between

LAKE CARRIERS HAUL BIG LOAD

Volume Of Shipments Is Almost Equal To 1945 Season

Cleveland, Ohio.—The bulk cargo fleet of the Great Lakes is moving iron ore, coal, grain and limestone in a volume almost equal to that achieved in 1945, according to figures released today by the Lake Carriers' Association.

Severe ice conditions during April held the fleet's movement down almost 40 per cent under the corresponding volume for 1945. Beginning to recover in May, the vessels came within 24 per cent of equalling the tonnage they handled in that month two years ago. In June they were less than one per cent under their 1945 volume.

The cumulative loss occasioned by ice during the first one-third of the current season amounted to only 11.1 per cent, as compared with the tonnage moved in 1945 by July 1.

By that date this season, Lake Carriers' President John T. Hutchinson pointed out, 50,374,972 tons of raw materials had been delivered from mines and farms to industry. During the same period last season, only 27,369,461 tons had been delivered, "because strikes in the iron and coal mines hampered the vessels much more seriously than did prolonged freezing of the shipping lanes this spring," he said.

Stories Of Michigan

Ten Billion Invaders

The big, square-jawed man leaned against the wooden wall of the back porch, biting on his pipe and looking out over the peaceful acres of farm crops. His grandsons, a boy of eight and ten, lounged on the porch steps, wrestling playfully with each other. Evening peace was beginning to descend on the quiet farm.

Ned, the older of the boys, turned to his grandfather suddenly. "Hey, tell us a story, grandpa!" The younger boy echoed the request.

"I was just remembering," the aged man said, nodding his head toward the boys, "when I was about your age . . . back in eighteen seventy-six, that was. It was evening, like this, and my pa had spent the whole hot day planting wheat. My older brothers helped him, and they had been at it for weeks. We were in the house washing up, when a neighbor came running in, out of breath and shouting . . .

"As he talked, the boys saw the event as if it were taking place in front of their eyes.

"Get your guns! Hurry!" The neighbor's face was red with fear and excitement. "The birds are coming! The pigeons!"

The Mershon family seized their shotguns, and everyone dashed from the house into the newly-planted fields. A great black cloud in the distance was rolling into view, and as it came nearer, the men saw flashing blue, wine, and white feathers in a vast overhead mass.

The first birds descended upon the fields, the next flew over these birds, and the next over the last, so that all covered the ground in a great wheeling motion. William Mershon raised his gun, and fired.

The grown boys began firing, too, and the little boy and his sisters and mother beat tin pans wildly, making a crashing jumble of noise. The birds appeared oblivious to the uproar as they swooped to pick up the food spread over the ground.

"Must be a million!" Mershon cried to his neighbor who was firing steadily into the onslaught.

"Three million!" the neighbor cried back.

The last birds on the land were rising now, and they continued to rise, strip after strip, so that they passed over the ones who were feeding, and settled on ground ahead, as if they were a huge, destructive barrel, rolling over and over, and leaving ruined acres beneath.

Finally they were gone, on to some other hard-planted soil. William Mershon sank down, and covered his eyes with one hand. "All that grain—and all that work!" He stayed in his position of despair, on his knees in the brown earth, while his sons and neighbor stood about in limp fatigue, talking. "They're all over Michigan," the neighbor was saying. "We've got to organize against them!"

"Yeah!" one of the sons exclaimed. Over in Oceana county, there's an army of five hundred men and their families who don't do anything but follow these pigeons around, catching them and shooting them by the thousands."

His brother spoke up excitedly. "Say, I read in a newspaper story tomorrow—1874, that was—that every day for thirty days, a hundred carloads of pigeons were shipped out from Shelby, Michigan. The paper said that was 309,000,000 birds from one nesting time alone! And that doesn't even count all the pigeons the catchers ate, and all they fed to their porkers."

"I know," the neighbor said. "That's been going on about ten years—must be at least ten billion pigeons they've shipped out that way. Hunters kill 'em all the time, too—and traps catch 'em. We've got to do something drastic, or those birds'll eat us right off the earth!"

William Mershon looked up. "My brother near the top of the State says the settlers saw a flock roosting in the forest there, and that flock covered the woods for twenty-eight miles one way and three miles the other!"

Mershon's neighbor crouched on the ground beside his friend and looked at the solemn faces. "It's got to be the birds or us," he said. "We've got to kill or be killed!" The weary men around him, nodded in agreement.

Just as the grandfather was speaking the last words of his story, he saw his son, tall and sunburned, step out from the kitchen door. "Well, it was the birds—a dirty shame, too," the son exclaimed.

"Did you hear the story Gramp was telling us?" one of the youngsters cried. "It must have been a made-up story 'cause whoever saw a bunch of pigeons flying around here?"

"It was a true story," the sunburned man said. He looked at his father. "I s'pose I'd have felt just the same as you if I'd been farming them—but now all I can think of, is how brutal it was, to slaughter those birds so completely that the whole species is extinct. Those were passenger pigeons," he explained to the boys, "native American birds. They're so rare that several different men have offered thousands of dollars in cash reward to anybody in the country who can find the nest of one of them with eggs or young birds undisturbed. And to think people used to sweep them off trees like swarms of chickens, and feed 'em to the hogs!" He shook his head.

The youngsters jumped from the steps, and danced up and down with excitement. "You mean if we find a pigeon's nest, we can get over a thousand dollars?" The older men nodded, and the boys ran off toward the woods.

The men sat on the porch, smoking and staring at the serene fields. "Man who knew birds—his name was Wilson, he was a sort of specialist on the subject—saw two billion flying in a flock once." The grandfather bit on his pipe.

"And now nobody sees even one. Things sure change, don't they?"

FORD BUILDING UP STOCKPILES

Estimated 21,000 Called To Work Today On Overtime Basis

Detroit, July 18 (AP)—An estimated 21,000 Ford Motor company workers in four states were summoned today to work on an overtime basis Saturday as the company strove to build up stockpiles depleted during the recent foremen's strike.

Vice President M. L. Bricker of Ford said 15,500 workers will be called in at the Rouge plant, 500 at Highland Park and 5,000 others at assembly lines in Buffalo, Louisville, and Chicago.

Bricker said assembly lines in Detroit area plants would not be operated Saturday but that the workers would concentrate on building up a reserve of supplies for the company's 13 branch assembly plants.

The summons to the workers to put in overtime came in the midst of a new controversy between the company and the Foreman's Association of America (Ind.) over firing of 32 foremen who took part in the strike.

Proper Garbage Handling Paramount In Sanitation

A new garbage truck with inclosed box and conveyor belt has been purchased by the City of Escanaba and will arrive within the next 30 days, it was announced yesterday by Loren Jenkins, city engineer. The truck will be used on the regular garbage routes as soon as it arrives.

In the event that one is not sufficient for the needs of Escanaba another like it will be purchased. Purchase and use of the new vehicle will eliminate much of the unpleasant circumstances surrounding present collection and disposition. However, to further improve service the city manager has requested that every resident cooperate with the department in order to provide the best service.

First of all, only 50 per cent of the population on the garbage routes have acceptable garbage containers. These should not be larger than 30-gallon capacity and must be waterproof and have an unattached cover.

At present everything but the kitchen sink is used. Old wash boilers without covers, cardboard boxes or 50-gallon oil barrels seem popular with many. Except of course to the man who has to carry it away.

Garbage, according to city regulations, is only kitchen refuse, including tin cans. All garbage must be wrapped. Once a week city employees collect the refuse.

Construction waste, tree trimmings and other waste, of bulk, must be handled by private agencies or the property owner. Rubbish such as ashes should be placed in a separate container. The works department will collect this once a month.

Alleys along Ludington street and behind places of business as hotels and restaurants are provided garbage collection service bi-weekly.

In event the residents or commercial persons fail to cooperate with the department and keep the alleys clean, such will be cleaned by the city and cost charged to the resident or owner. A city ordinance provides that alleys and streets must be clean and free of rubbish. Non-compliance is handled by the police department. The county health officer assists in maintaining sanitation in the city.

Poor garbage facilities or handling is not only a detriment to sanitation but is an open invitation to rats and pestilence. Every resident is asked to cooperate with city employees in keeping Escanaba clean.

Iron Mountain Is Stop On Detroit To Houghton Airline

Iron Mountain—Starting with a special "pathfinder cruise" Friday, passenger service of the Nationwide Airlines, heretofore extending from the Detroit city airport direct to the Isle Royale Sands airport at Houghton, will include the Ford Airport, serving Iron Mountain, Kingsford and the surrounding area, seven days a week, on both the north and southbound trips.

This announcement was made here yesterday by Irving Stahl, of Detroit, regional manager for Nationwide Airlines, after a conference with Don Smith, chamber of commerce secretary, and others. Accompanying Mr. Stahl here, to arrange for the service, was Capt. Richard R. Olivere, chief pilot for Nationwide.

Began three weeks ago, the Detroit-to-Houghton service has enjoyed a steadily-growing patronage. Manager Stahl said yesterday. Opening the schedule with a six-passenger Lockheed, the airline quickly switched to a 30-passenger DC-3, which has since been booked almost solid for the trip, both ways, Detroit to Houghton. The ship carried 30 passengers from Detroit to Houghton last Sunday, and was "loaded" again for the return trip.
